FLOWING VS FLOWLESS TILLAGE

A report from the Dominion Experimental Station shows yields of grain following surface tillage slightly better than following plowing practices. In very wet years the fields that have been plowed will produce higher yields but in drier seasons the flowless tillage comes ahead. It has however cost one fifth more on the average to work plowed fallow and since there is little difference in yields from each method the cost to grow a bushel of wheat on plowed fallow has slipped from 5 to 70 higher than that grown on land exclusively surface tilled.

Aside from cost, the trash cover preserved by surface tillage is valuable on soils subject to wind erosion. Complete summerfallow operations can be done there with surface implements except in very localized spots where the heavy clay soil formation comes to the surface. Real hardship or serious losses are not present in this area.

BETTER PASTURES

It is not to become a part of our farming practice nor must acreage special farms to fit into our general plans. These pastures should be seeded and left down 3 to 5 years. The forage growing on land will increase fibre and the fertility of the soil. When it is plowed better grain crops can be produced. These are too many run-down pastures on Alberta farms. This means that too great an acreage must be devoted to pasture and these large acreages are not much better than exercise grounds for most of the year. Greatest returns from livestock can be obtained only if they harvest most of their forage themselves, and they should use as little energy as possible while doing so.

Neither grasses nor legumes alone provide the best pasture. They should be grown in mixture. Grasses and legumes together. Legumes increase the feed value and bulk of the mixture, and they help maintain soil fertility. Grasses fill the soil with needed root fibre. The two together provide a pasture that is very nutritious, and if the kinds are chosen carefully, they will provide good pasture fairly continuously throughout the season.

HAYING PERMITS IN THE BUFFALO PARK

Application forms for haying permits are now available through the Buffalo Park Grazing Association, through Mr. Ken Tully's office secretary at that association. At a meeting of the board on June 14 haying permits were turned over to the board for approval. All applications should be in by June 30 for haying in the creek meadow and before that time for the cutting of upland hay.

Work Of Technical Classes Displayed

Last Thursday afternoon saw only a small group of interested parents and friends of students viewing the display of work done in the Home Economics and Industrial Arts classes of the Wainwright High School. Mr. C. Cronie was on hand during the afternoon to explain the intricacies of inlaid woodwork and electrical gadgets; Miss L. Bloom received the guests in the Home Economics, where Mrs. E. Carter, supervisor of the dormitory, poured tea at a table laid in white damask and centred by a crystal vase holding lilacs. Girls from the Home Economics classes served the guests. Highly appreciative comments were expressed to students and teachers.

Mrs. Rossie Taylor Feted at Farewell

A number of ladies gathered at the home of Mrs. Hazel Parkinson on Friday evening when Mrs. D. Dundas and Mrs. Parkhurst entertained at a farewell party in honor of Mrs. Rossie Taylor who is leaving shortly to make her home in Edmonton. A social evening of games was enjoyed followed by a sing-song accompanied by Mrs. W. Reynolds at the piano and Mrs. Mary Gardenton with the violin.

W.I. Send Delegate To Bruce Conference

The regular monthly meeting of the Wainwright Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. O. Crofton on Thursday, June 11th, with a good number of members and visitors in attendance.

A large food parcel was sent to a W.I. member in Britain. Further plans were made for the baby layette Mrs. McVail was chosen as delegate to attend the Constituency Conference being held at Bruce on June 15th.

Several articles were handed in for competition in the Handicraft display at the Conference.

Mrs. Symes won the gift donated by Mrs. Alexander.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Cronie at 1009-7 Ave. E. on July 5th when a full report from the Conference will be given.

Hortense, Mrs. Crofton and Mrs. Robertson.

Miss Edith Perkins Adresses Gerald Club

On Thursday afternoon, June 17, the Gerald Club met at the home of Miss A. Zehnder. Mrs. L. Myngland presided. Sixteen members and two visitors were present. Roll call was "A Favorite Saying". A letter of appreciation for books donated was received from the Wainwright Library. A donation of $10.00 was made to the Salvation Army Red Shield Appeal.

Because of the number of questions to be answered in connection with the "Better Farm Home Contest", it was decided to have a special meeting on June 29th at the home of Mrs. G. Valenue. The winning ticket on the quilt will be drawn at that time.

Mrs. D. Balfour, R.R. reported four boxes of fruit being given.

It was ascertained that the Gerald Club has contributed $75.00 to the Peace Memorial Fund, so far.

Following the meeting a very interesting talk about her work was given by Miss Edith Perkins, R.N.

She is connected with the nutritional survey work of the Dominion Department of Health. Three things are reported in all surveys—diet, physical examination and blood analysis. She mentioned in particular the survey that was made on Madeline Island near Cape Breton Island. In this island, fishing is the main industry. The people live secluded but happy lives.

A contest conducted by Mrs. C. Gulekison was won by Mrs. Hamilton.

Then all enjoyed the dairy lunch served by Miss Zehnder.

Britain to Broaden Farm Training Plan

A government scheme to train ex-servicemen and women for jobs on the land is being revised to save it from failure.

Launched in 1945, the scheme has hitherto been open only to those whose war service prevented them from training for a job.

It is being extended to all ex-servicemen and women not doing work of national importance.

Originally arrangements were made for 100,000 men and women—30,000 a year—to be trained on 15,000 specially selected farms.

By the end of 1946, 477 people had been accepted and 69 applications refused. By May 1946 the number accepted was 4,048 in addition to 169 laid girls. By February 1947 only 5,000 had been accepted.

Figures issued by the Ministry of Agriculture show that a total of 10,169 people have been trained and placed. "Had the scheme come into effect as planned, the figure should now stand at 60,000," it was said.

The Wainwright UFWA met at the home of Mrs. Driver on June 2nd. Many good travelling hints were given by members and visitors in answering the Roll Call.

A motion was carried that a sale of home cooking be held in August. Several local couples were suggested as delegates to Junior Leader Training Camp. These couples to be contacted.

Bulletin on education was read. This resulted in a lively discussion on religious instruction in schools and the type of movies most suitable for children.

Bibles library being compiled and published by UFWA was explained by Mrs. Taylor for the benefit of the several visitors.

The possibility of a supervised rest room in Wainwright was discussed.

The next meeting to be held at Mrs. Myngland's home on July 6.

PLAXTONVILLE

The Ladies Guild Welfare Club held their monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Don Teeter on Thursday afternoon. A good attendance was reported and a delicious lunch was served after the meeting.

We were indeed sorry to hear that Mr. T. Black is a patient in the Wainwright hospital and wish him a speedy recovery.

Miss D. Plaxton was a week-end visitor at her parents home.

A number of folks from the district attended the dance held in Gilles school Friday, June 18th. They reported a good time.

Some of the young pupils bring their summer holidays on Monday with happy smiles while the older pupils prepare to write Departmental Examinations this week.

Miss Violet Walker Farewell Party For Mrs. M. Gardenton

A pretty good wedding took place in Grace United Church, Wainwright on Wednesday, June 18th, at 2:00 p.m., when Miss Violet Walker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Walker of Fabyan, was united in marriage to Mr. Harry Arthur Orr of Pelling, B.C. Son of Mr. John Orr and the late Mrs. Orr of Burn's Lake, B.C. Rev. M. Dobson officiated at the ceremony before the altar decorated with roses and white daisies.

The bride given in marriage by her father was lovely in a floor length white sheer gown with long full veil and white gloves, and she carried a bouquet of red roses and white carnations with maiden hair fern.

Attending the bride as bridesmaids were her two sisters, Misses Lily and Nancy Walker. They were blue and pink nylon net over satin matching gowns with shoulder length veils to match and carried bouquets of gladioli, carnations and fern.

The groom was supported by his nephew Mr. Arthur Likies as best man and Mr. Arthur R. Walker, brother of the bride, as groomsmen. Mr. William Henry Walker, brother of the bride was the usher, and while the register was being signed Mrs. Wainwright sang "I Love You Truly."

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents following the ceremony. Receiving with the bride party Mrs. Walker were a brown dressmaker suit with pink accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

The bride's father was escorted by the three wedding cake finished by waxes whorl roses. Pink and white attire, and white wedding bells came in the decorative scheme.

Mrs. William Walker, Mrs. R. Wainwright and Miss Ruby Wainwright assisted at the reception.

The toast to the bride was proposed by Mr. G. Likies.

The young couple will spend their honeymoon visiting with relatives and friends in the Pelling area, returning to Pelling, B.C., where they plan to reside.

Out of town guests at the wedding included, sister and brother-in-law of the groom Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Likies and son Arthur of Irma, Mrs. J. Noren and daughter Viola of Rancourt, Alberta, and Mr. Jimmy Smith of Elkton.

A wedding dance was held in Battle Heights School in the evening where numerous friends and neighbors from surrounding districts gathered. The bride and groom received a beautiful array of presents with best wishes for the future. Mr. and Mrs. Orr responded in a charming manner to all, thanking the musicians and all that helped in any way.

George Madden Fatally Injured In Train Accident

An accident that caused the death of Mr. George Madden, age 59, well known resident of the Fairway and Wainwright district, occurred on Tuesday morning last, June 16th, at a private railway crossing half a mile west of Fairway. The freight train, which was at a station, had received orders for slow speed at that particular stretch of rail and was in the process of slowing down. Mr. Madden driving his 1947 Mercury half ton truck was heading south and had stopped to open a gate to cross over the track. He left the gate open, got back into his truck, apparently not seeing or hearing the approaching train, and when he was about half way across the tracks the engine of the freight struck the truck. Mr. Madden was pinned into the wreckage and immediately a call was made to the Doctors of the Clinic and to McLeod's Ambulance who rushed to the scene of the accident.

On arriving there the Doctor found Mr. Madden still conscious but in great pain. The injured man was rushed to the local hospital, but despite all the medical attention could do passed away on Sunday evening, June 20th, about 9:00 p.m. He suffered multiple injuries to his chest and abdomen.

The late Mr. Madden was born in Douglas Manitoia, in 1889 and came to Alberta some 27 years ago, moving to the Fairway district one year later, where he had made his home until his demise. Left to mourn his passing are his wife and a wide circle of friends.

The funeral service was held from Grace United Church on Tuesday June 22nd at 2:00 p.m., with Rev. M. Dobson officiating and brother members of the Masonic Order taking part in the service. Members of the Connaught Chapter, O.E.S. attended in a body.

Funerals for the deceased, all members of the Masonic order, were Messrs W. H. Lyle, L. W. Smith, J. Mitchell, G. Graham, J. Robinson and M. G. Cardell.

An inquest was opened under the direction of Coroner Dr. H. C. Wainwright.

Wainwright Pioneer Passes On

Mr. William George Long, passed away in the Wainwright Memorial Hospital on Thursday, June 17th at the age of 64 years. After suffering poor health for over a year with a heart ailment he entered the local hospital some time prior to his death.

The deceased was born in Lincolnton, England in 1864 and in 1912 migrated to this district. He served with the Canadian Active Army in World War I from 1914 to 1918 and after his discharge he returned to Wainwright where he was employed with the C.N.R. Railway from 1912 to 1914 and from 1918 to 1947 when he retired from service.

The late Mr. Long never married and there are no living relatives known at time of writing.

The funeral was held on Saturday, June 19th at 2:00 p.m. from St. Thomas' Anglican church with Rev. F. E. Smith officiating. Members of the Local Body of the Legion attended in a body. The pallbearers, all former C.N.R. associates of the deceased were Messrs. J. Alderman, H. Smart, S. Tully, F. Church, T. Caplehorn and H. Ward Sr.

Burial took place in the Soldier's Plot in the Wainwright cemetery with McLeod's parlor in charge of arrangements.

S.C.'s Nominate Masson At Convention

The Social Credit Constituency Association held their nominating convention in Wainwright on Wednesday of last week, June 16th, at the Masonic Hall.

More than 40 Polls were represented at the meeting with approximately 75 members in attendance.

The purpose of the convention was to choose a candidate to carry the Social Credit banner of the Wainwright Constituency in the next provincial election. Of two candidates nominated Mr. Wm. Masson of Irma was chosen by a good majority. Mr. Masson has represented this constituency since he was first elected to the Alberta Legislature in 1935.

Much speculation has been placed by other political groups on the number of nomination conventions called by the Social Credit party during the spring of this year. All parties are preparing for a forthcoming election and many quarters feel that an election might be called sometime in August. Nothing definite in this respect has come from Premier Manning yet, so all talk of election must be regarded as purely speculative.

Dr. Brock Armstrong Wed In Edmonton

Before a floral background of pink roses, pink snapdragons and lilacs in First Presbyterian Church Wednesday evening, Miss Gene Doris Noble, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Noble of Edmonton, became the bride of Dr. H. Brock Armstrong, son of Mrs. T. B. Armstrong of Edmonton, and the late Rev. Mr. Armstrong.

The ceremony was performed at 7:00 p.m. by Rev. J. MacBeth Miller. Entering the church with her father, the bride wore a gown of ivory satin, the tightly fitted bodice featuring a lace yoke, accented by a round high neckline, and long tapering sleeves. The skirt was draped with three folds across the front and a bustle at the back, and terminated in a slight train. Her full-length veil was caught to a satin band and she carried a cascade bouquet of red roses and white Rafter Red daisies. Her hair was styled in her only jewelry.

Attending the bride as bridesmaids were her cousins, Miss Barbara Gilbert and Miss Doris Haslett. Miss Gilbert wore pale yellow nylon sheer over tulle, styled with a fitted bodice and a round neckline. Miss Haslett's gown of pale blue nylon over tulle was similarly styled.

Each bridesmaid wore a poke bonnet of matching material and carried a harmonizing cascade bouquet of carnations, snapdragons and larkspurs.

The flower girls were Miss Sharyn Bell, niece of the bride, and Miss Marie King, cousin of the bride. They were dressed alike in pink marquisette over tulle, with a fitted bodice and a round neckline. They carried flower girls' bouquets.

Each bridesmaid wore a poke bonnet of matching material and carried a harmonizing cascade bouquet of carnations, snapdragons and larkspurs.

Mr. Frank Brock, cousin of the groom, was best man, and the ushers were Dr. H. A. Lloyd and Dr. T. G. O'Brien. The bride was Mr. Arthur Noble, and while the register was being signed, Mrs. George Hudson sang "O Day of Golden Promises."

A reception was held in the drawing room of the MacBeth Miller residence, where the mothers of the bride and groom received with the bride party.

Mrs. Noble wore a floor-length gown of dusky blue crepe, with a narrow, trimmed with pink and blue flowers. Her accessories were in pink and her corsage was of pink carnations and white stephanotis.

The groom's mother, Mrs. Armstrong, was attired in a soft grey flannel gown, styled on simple lines, with which she wore grey accessories. Her hat was a small flower model in shades of pink, rose and cornflower blue. A corsage of pink roses and blue cornflowers completed her ensemble.

Vases of pink peonies and white lilies in silver chandeliers were placed on either of the three-tiered wedding cake on the bride's table. The cake was topped with pink Sweetheart roses and embedded in white tulle.

Mrs. V. H. Shaw and Mrs. H. C. Wallace, of Wainwright, presided at the tea and coffee area.

The toast to the bride was proposed by Mr. T. W. Burt.

For going away, the bride wore a gray gabardine suit with a gray hat and navy accessories. Her shoulder corsage was of pink roses.

Following the reception, the young couple left for the east, travelling by car. After a honeymoon spent at Chatham, London and Niagara Falls, Dr. and Mrs. Armstrong will take up residence in Toronto where Dr. Armstrong will continue post-graduate work at the Hospital for Sick Children.

Bring A Pie For The First of July

A catchy slogan has been arranged by the ladies of the Wainwright Club to request the people of the town and district to respond to the urgent need for pies and cakes on the first of July this year.

As the July 1st concession program is to be used for the benefit of the P.M.C. this year, it is hoped that everyone will get into the swing of things and help in any way they can. At present there is not enough pies promised for that date, and only by more donations can the ladies working in the eating booths hope to feed the large crowds which will be on hand during the day.

Anyone who wishes to donate one or more pies are asked to Phone 706 or come to any member of the senior committee.

TRANSFERABLE VOTE FOR DOMINION

While reading through an Edmonton paper last week we came across an item which interested us greatly. It concerned the single transferable vote proposed to be used in future Dominion Elections; not that at the present time it has been established, but rather the members of the Commons have the matter before them for consideration.

We believe that the single transferable ballot should be used in all elections, and above all, in a Dominion election. In the past, the elections in the Dominion contest have been made on a straight mark your ballot "X" proposition, and while this system of voting is by far the simpler to some people, it does not always elect a representative to the House of Commons who is a true representative of the majority of the people voting.

At the present time there are over 60 Liberals, 38 Progressive Conservatives, 28 C.C.F.'s and 12 Social Creditors, who are sitting in the Parliament of Canada on a minority vote. That makes a total of more than 140 members of a possible 245. In other words more than 61% of the peoples elected representatives are not wanted in the House of Parliament by the majority.

To clear up the point of a minority vote we will cite as an example such as three candidates running an electoral race. Suppose the top man receives 800 votes, the second man receives 600 votes, the third man receives 500 votes. In the present system the man with the 800 votes would be sent to Ottawa as the people's choice. Actually he is not the people's choice because as the hypothetical figures above show, there were only 800 people wanting him as their representative and 1100 people did not want him.

With the adoption of the Single Transferable ballot there would be no way possible of this happening. The ballots are marked 1, 2, and 3, etc., showing the order of choice of each elector for individual candidate. On the first counting of the ballots if there was no candidate shown to have a clear cut majority over all the other candidates combined it would require a counting of the ballots again, recording the No. 2 choices. The low man would automatically be dropped from the race, although the ballots on which he was shown as No. 1 choice would be left in the count.

On count No. 2 where the second choices are recorded these would be added to each candidate's first choice. If at this time no candidate showed a clear majority over all his opposition combined, the procedure would be continued counting No. 3 choice, No. 4 choice and so on until such time as one candidate proved to have a majority.

This system of voting has been in existence for a number of elections in the Province of Alberta and by no means is it an experiment or something new. It has been proven that it is by far the fairer system of selecting a representative of the people.

As stated before, while the single transferable vote is not yet approved for use in the Dominion elections, it is being given wide thought by the members themselves. It would appear that party is being placed second and issue first in this debate. We noticed that a P.C. seconded a motion made by Mr. Robert Fair, our S.C. member of parliament. This is somewhat of a rarity apparently in the House of Commons and is likely to happen only when not yet approved for use in the Dominion elections, it is before the members.

We would like to see such a system of voting adopted as we have outlined above. Only by the changing of the voting rules of the Dominion can Abraham Lincoln's famous quote be fully realized, when he said, "Government of the people, by the people, for the people so that we shall not perish from this earth."

THE P.M.C. PETITION

During the past week or more there has been circulating in Wainwright, a petition opposing the P.M.C. executive decision to locate the P.M.C. at the corner of 8th Street and 4th Avenue. This petition has not been circulated in the general sense, but rather is on display in a few public places for the convenience of those wishing to sign.

On first hearing of the petition we must admit that we were not in a happy frame of mind. But since giving the idea a little thought, it would appear that it was a good idea. The petition will certainly bring the matter of location to a head, something which has been sorely needed ever since the idea of a P.M.C. first came into being.

We for one would not sign our names on the dotted line but as it is a matter for each individual to make his decision, here is our point of view. The location of the P.M.C. next to the Town Hall is without a doubt the better location for a skating rink, we readily admit that. However we do not think it worthy of consideration when the fact that $3,000.00 is involved in securing the location before land levelling is started. It might be argued that $3,000.00 is a ridiculous figure and much too high. We have our own views on such and feel that this figure represents a close estimate of the cost involved in securing this sight. We might be mistaken but it is doubtful.

Some suggestions have been heard in connection with the location of the P.M.C. next to the Town Hall, that it could be placed along either 2nd or 3rd Avenue rather than across the alley. This again is wrong. The building to be erected is of such a large size that the depth of a lot will not permit the construction of the P.M.C. without jutting over into the alley. The size of the building as

by the Canadian Press

In the wake of two federal by-elections lost to the C.C.F., Prime Minister Mackenzie King last week reshuffled the cabinet and reconstructed the Board of Transport Commissioners.

The cabinet moves were made following the disappearance of some of Mr. King's best political strength. Resources Minister Glen was asked and had to resign; Justice Minister Daugherty, after 22 years of public service, was looking to a private legal practice. He will resign his cabinet post at the end of the month.

Both, however, will retain their seats as private members. In future, said Mr. King, the Board of Transport Commissioners would be headed by an exchequer court judge. Previously the office of chief commissioner had been a straight government appointment. The announcement, thought some informed sources, was the government's answer to provincial demands for a royal commission on railways.

The Commons was continuing its headlong dash to end Parliament June 30. Mr. King's announcement came at the end of a busy week. Interjected was the slippery oleomargarine issue which may be tossed into the hands of the Supreme Court of Canada.

Here is what Mr. King did: 1. As Resources Minister Glen, 70, resigned, he appointed Fisheries Minister MacKinnon, 66, to the resources post. However, it is believed that this was only temporary, and that Mr. MacKinnon likely was slated for appointment to the Senate.

2. He elevated R. W. Mayhew (L.-Victoria, B.C.), 67 to the fisheries post. Mr. Mayhew was parliamentary assistant to Finance Minister Abbott.

3. In a series of parliamentary understudy moves, Mr. King switched Thomas Reid (L.-New Westminster) parliamentary assistant for fisheries to the post of assistant to Revenue Minister McEwen.

4. J. Walter MacNaught (L.-Prince, P.E.I.), 43, became parliamentary assistant for fisheries.

5. Transport Minister Chevrier got a new assistant. He is Robert Winters (L.-Quebec-Lesbury), 37, former assistant to Dr. McCauley in Saskatchewan.

6. A Manitoba war veteran, Leslie Mutch (L.-Winnipeg South), 50, replaces Walter Tucker (L.-Rochester) as assistant to Veterans Minister Gregg. Mr. Tucker recently resigned to head the Liberal party in Saskatchewan.

No mention was made of a replacement for Mr. Daugherty who leaves to join the law firm of the late Col. J. L. Ralston in Montreal. Col. Ralston was a wartime cabinet colleague of Mr. Daugherty.

Likeliest choice for the justice post however, is Solicitor-General Jean, who already has been doing work in that department.

Another resignation was announced by Mr. King for the Board of Transport Commissioners. The six-man board became big news in Canadian newspapers when it granted the railways a 71-per-cent boost in freight rates in the face of protests by seven provincial governments.

J. A. Cross, 71, turned in his resignation as chief commissioner two years in advance of the 1950 expiration of his term.

He will be replaced by Mr. Justice M. B. Archibald of the Supreme Court of Nova Scotia. Because Mr. King wants the new chairman of the board to be a justice of the exchequer court contemplated at present is 143 feet wide by 221 feet long. Therefore, by placing the edge of our war memorial on the very edge of the property line, either along 2nd or 3rd Avenue, it will extend into the alley roughly three feet. This is not possible without moving some or all of the utilities that now serve Main Street businesses in that block. If it is then necessary to move the utilities at a cost to somebody, either the taxpayer or the P.M.C. donor for a slight consideration near the $800 mark, the building might just as well be placed across the block closing the alley properly.

One other feature which comes to light with the moving of the location to the newly decided sight is, while the location next to the Town Hall might be better for the building of the arena, it is not suitable for the further expansion necessary, if and when the Peace Memorial Centre becomes a reality. In the formation of the Society the aim was to build a centre of which a covered skating arena was to be the first unit. Other suggested units were to consist of a wading pool, swimming pool, park with trees, winding paths, benches to sit on, maybe a ball diamond or two, etc. The new location will provide ample space for the making of such dreams come true. This is not possible in the old site.

Above is a brief resume why the location has been changed. As we have said before we do not oppose the location of the P.M.C. next to the Town Hall but rather, we do oppose the use of the building funds for something other than the actual building.

There you are Mr. and Mrs. Wainwright and District. If you agree with us do not sign the petition. If you do not agree with us, by all means sign the petition and let's settle this matter of locating the finest War Memorial that Wainwright will ever build, once and for all.

By Joseph Lister Rutledge

TAKING THE DREAMS OF TOMORROW

By Joseph Lister Rutledge
Any man that applies to what someone has earned by his own effort, is a tax imposed on initiative and daring and vision. However great or small the vision or the daring may be, they are still qualities that earn rewards. To whom may the rewards more justly come than to the men who have earned them, not because they enjoy a rate of pay but because they offer a quality of service. Whenever we discount these facts, and justify it by expediency, we are taxing human progress, and human progress involves everyone.

The vision that transformed the operator of a small bicycle shop into the head of a fabulous automotive empire and, incidentally, earned him as fabulous a fortune, just wasn't chance. It wasn't favoritism, or any peculiar advantage of birth or fortune. However one may argue against exceptional rewards this must be admitted, as it must be admitted in the great majority of such cases the owner of the fortune, started from scratch with no advantages that were not equally open to any other individual. Had Henry Ford remained in his bicycle shop, no one would have grudged his profits. No one would have thought of him as a capitalist, or challenged his right to push his business as far as he could. The world would have been satisfied that he had his rights and no more, but the world would also have been immeasurably poorer.

A planned economy, that would level out all the differences between man and man, must accept this limitation; it will level away all the advantages that exceptional men bring to the world. Maybe we would be more nearly equal, for what incentive would remain to make old men to dream dreams and young men to see visions? If men really want the grim monotony of that planned existence, what is the matter with the prisons and penitentiaries? Surely nowhere else is a man so safe or as equal with neighbor, or more governed and protected. He is housed and fed, clothed and instructed, told when to rise and when to go to bed, and what to do between. In such a system does not produce the men

For months the butter substitute has raised the dust on Parliament Hill.

As the shortage for butter became more apparent, the margarine battle became more protracted.

Descriptive Picture OF B.C. Floods

Below will be found a description on flood condition in B.C. as written in a letter to the writers people who reside at Torfield. This story appeared in the Torfield Mercury and through the kind permission of the Mercury's editor we herewith reprint it.

(The Editor)
Dear Folks,
I considered sending a wire today telling you that I wasn't floating yet, but then I decided the thought of a wire out of the clear blue, would be just as unnerving.

This will go down as the year of The Flood. We who are now in B.C. will be a distinct and revered group. If we live to tell the tale in its glowing superlatives. I talked along with the local peasants a few weeks back, agreed that we ought to follow the advice of the river, and get out quick. I talked as eagerly as any of them about the drastic things that could happen, and probably would. I sensed in their talk a kind of morbid hope that the water would come, and honestly, I hoped so too. Then the flood died down. At night there was no more scurry of alarmed rats at the Twin Bridges. The water was vast and shiny, but only with the spring rise, everyone said. Then all of a sudden, almost, the little creeks that run into farms started mudgulling, quivering in indecision, it seemed, and then the day came when they went determinedly backwards, boiling and churning meanwhile. But backwards seems to go only so far, and soon the turbulent waters overflowed. A release was all the mountain streams wanted, and the overflow was soon backed a thousand-fold. Then Old Sol came in and melted the drift in the Cariboo, and the debris in the Columbia and they all hurried down to the lowlands.

And once the gentle resistance offered by a creek or river bank is broken, there is no stopping. This was enough some good soil was going to be silted over and ruined for a year. But it's never touch the dykes or cause any damage. Like Hell it wouldn't. And they all knew it was coming, but I suppose I understand their little hope against hope attitude. It's pretty grim to stack your furniture, grab the baby's picture, and blindfold the cow, and then scurry down the road or up on the rocks just like that.

Well, here it is Thursday evening, and I'm dead beat and completely exhausted off on floods. Back to Monday. The Fraser river stunk like all the valley of living things had rotted overnight.

I started this dope last Monday. The flood is really pretty grim now, the hot sun viciously melting the tons of snow in the Cariboo and on the mountain tops, and their frantic rushing down. All the dykes are crumbling like porridge, and it's a frightening thing to see haggard people, herding thin livestock wherever, only higher; or worse yet, selling them to vultures who are boating through the valley with the theory that the government will order any transient cattle sent anywhere, and saying "I'll give you ten dollars a head." People sometimes fall for that sort of line, partly through sheer fatigue, I guess, and partly through belief that the government would condemn all cattle as carriers. But the same cow hawks beetle off to Burns in Vancouver and get top market prices because beef is so scarce. Early in the morning and late at night men and mere boys trudge home off a dyke station, eat anything, and crawl into bed to sleep. If the water looks worse, a horn blows away down the road with a siren and all able bodied people lie themselves off. Funny, too, to go into a market and see nothing to buy, because there is nothing coming in and what was there has been taken for dyke workers. No fruit, vegetables, meat or butter. Liquor stores are closed because in former days and even present, the influence of too much rum, too many broken dykes, and too many fatigued men with hysterical emotions and minds did too many foolish things. We almost lost a man last night. They had just made the last easy patrol along the narrow crumbly thread which is the dyke, and stopped at Station Three for Red Cross coffee. Mr. Tatham wasn't there. So they decided one man was kaput. Clever deduction. But one little badger of a nervous Frenchman got the idea that maybe he could still be saved so he groped along the maddening lonely way, and found friend Tatham floating on a boom, but half dead. They promptly took him out of course, and tried a bit of resuscitation. He lived and is back working today because there is a fourteen foot wall coming down the Fraser, Elson and I took some new side home, not conclusive to sleep pictures of it today, and I'll send you some or rather one when we get them. I went into town last Wednesday to most Peter and see a show, and then we missed the four to Peter and me out in a taxi. London's Sheep Pay Their Way, Delight Public

It would seem to be no place for sheep, but in the very heart of London a large flock grazes and thrives up against the public.

Hyde Park and adjoining Kensington Gardens, the great city's best known parks which are visited annually by millions, is home to 540 sheep, a professional shepherd with an authentic crook, and three efficient sheep dogs, Dust, Tess and Dot.

The man in charge, 61-year-old George Watkinson, believes he is the most conspicuous shepherd in the world.

"The notion that being a shepherd is a lonely job, for quiet philosophers who don't have their thoughts interrupted, certainly doesn't apply to the bit of shepherding I am doing here," Watkinson said.

"I have to dress up fittin' for the fine park—wear a necktie under my leather vest, and I have even heard remarks I ought to have my shoes shined."

"There's nothing quiet about managing grazing land that's buzzin' with elegant traffic, and where the dogs get into fights and the sheep get tangled with all the perambulators in the West End."

It's a practical flock, making wool and mutton for Britain, and turning in a profit.

Sheep Out Grass

The grass would have to be cut by machines if the sheep weren't there to do it. The ministry of works, which administers the parks, gets substantial revenue from selling its grazing rights to John Clark, a Hereford farmer who owns the best. Britain gets wool and park visitors get a glimpse of a pastoral spectacle.

Being a shepherd in Hyde Park has its own peculiar problems, and Watkinson outlined what can happen in one day:

Frightened nursemaids may be stampeded.

The questions mount up into the hundreds and rapturous children follow him all day.

A sheep may get chased into the water of the Serpentine by a dog. The sheep can swim well, but hundreds of persons call the police and berate the shepherd.

Occasionally a sheep, outwitting the dogs, may stray out into the traffic. Two caused a sensation by wandering into the Dorchester Hotel.

A gay man-about-town sometimes tries to make off with a sheep in a taxicab. One was taken once to a night club, and came back with baby pins in her wool.

Thousands of persons have to be assured over and over again that ewes (no adult rams are permitted) are not vicious, that they do not chase old ladies or get hydrophobic.

Watch Out Gals: No Tops On Your Swim Suits Soon

New York—It is one yard down and a half yard to go, in the women's bathing suit industry.

Twenty-five years ago, the average girl's swim suit consumed about 2 1/4 yards of material. Now it takes 2 1/2. Soon, within 15 years, it will be down to one yard, says an authority. That means women going to the beach won't be wearing any tops at all.

"The way things are going now, the topless suit may be here in much less than 15 years," predicts Leonard C. Asch, the man who made the first modern, one-piece, form-fitting women's bathing suit.

"And they'll look lousy. Once at a show at the New York World's Fair, I saw some girls without tops. They looked terrible, and they were about girls who should have looked good. From a, it was like something at a zoo."

As a pioneer in the art of designing less and less, Asch should know. He's the man credited with taking women bathers out of the long skirts, bloomers, long stockings and other items they used to hide in on the beach. In 1921, Asch created a one-piece, tight-fitting "Annette Kellerman suit" worn by the famous Australian diver of the same name.

Asch introduced his suit at the first Miss America contest in Atlantic City which he helped promote. For the next eight years, he helped run the annual contest, supplying most of the suits as well as the professional models, among them, Barbara Stanwyck, Ruby Keeler, Josephine Dunn and Peggy Shannon.

Called A Showdown

"I just got the idea of cutting the suit at the hip or thereabouts," the red-haired, 55-year-old Asch recalls. "But they were still wearing the opera-length stockings. In 1923, we had a showdown."

"I was tired of paying $15 a pair for stockings for the models," he said. "I got special permission from the mayor of Atlantic City to let the girls appear without stockings. Even then the mayor or some other official had to measure the length of the bottom of the suit from the knee. I think the rule was it had to be no more than six inches."

"We had to promote the suit," Asch says. "Women were afraid to wear it, mothers threatened their daughters with everything under the sun if they did. But we finally proved the one-piece form fitting was the healthiest, best for the sun, best for swimming."

Once in those days, a Broadway night-club owner commissioned Asch to make some very extreme two-piece costumes for his chorus girls.

"It was just a short skirt and bra," says the manufacturer, "the same thing you see on the beaches today."

But it took hours and hours of argument to persuade the chorus girls to wear it then.

Asch got out of the bathing suit business about 10 years ago.

Quality Egg Production
During these times of high production costs, we must keep only good healthy birds and must produce a high quality product. Most B and C grade eggs are unnecessary and only mean lower returns to the producer.

C. W. Traves, Poultry Commissioner, Alberta Department of Agriculture, advises that the laying flock should be kept confined to the laying house for best results. If you insist that they be let out then they should be confined to a small clean run. The house and all equipment should be clean and sanitary. Laying mash, whole oats, shell, grit and fresh water should be available at all times. Some feed wheat, as well as oats, should be before the birds all the time but care should be taken, especially during the warmer weather, to see that the birds do not become over fat through consuming too much grain. There should be ample nests and the nesting material and litter on the floor should be ample and clean. Eggs should be collected at least three times daily, cooled in wire baskets or on wire trays, packed in good cases with clean flats and fillers and shipped at least once each week. Eggs should always be packed with 1 inch mesh. This small sized mesh will keep out the sparrows and other birds.

During the warm weather be sure that the windows in the laying house are replaced with frames covered with 1 inch mesh. This small sized mesh will keep out the sparrows and other birds.

"PIONEER'S" ADDITIONAL PAYMENT ON OATS AND BARLEY

Some months ago we made an interim payment of 12 cents on oats and 10 cents on barley, and advised all customers that final payment would be made later.

Cheques are now in the hands of all agents for this final distribution. It will be appreciated if you will call and pick up your cheque.

This payment plus the initial interim payment makes a total of 13 1/4c per bushel on oats, and 16 1/4c per bushel on barley.

We are happy to announce that "Pioneer" customers are receiving more per bushel than the distribution made by any other Pool or Line elevator operators in Saskatchewan or Alberta.

IT PAYS TO PULL TO THE "PIONEER"

The Federal Government promised to make a payment to farmers on oats and barley, delivered at ceiling prices between August 1st and October 21st, 1947, after the Elevator Companies had made an adjustment. This has now been done and we therefore trust the Federal Government will implement its promise in the near future.

Baseball News

For The Week

The Wainwright ball club brought home the bacon from Edgerton Tournament last week, when they won first money, taking Chauvin and Edgerton for a ride.

The boys met Chauvin in the first game, with Stromme pitching and Grafton catching. Battery for Chauvin — Nyevold hurling, Dahl relieving in the fourth inning, with Miller behind the plate.

It was a real old Merry-Go-Round for our team, as they clouted out 10 safe singles, managed five passes on balls and several sacrifices, Grafton was the big stickler of the game, batting out a good round thousand, and one of them was a two-baser to boot. The score 11-2, with Wainwright not talking last bats.

Drawing Edgerton in the finals with Swede and Grafton for battery, and Moe Kimball twirling for the opposition, and Spornetz aiding in the 6th, we were able to bang out 11 safe singles, and fold in 15 runs to Edgerton's one, giving our club the prize for the day.

The Sunday exhibition game on the home diamond, was a bag-a-boo for the team, when Rabeone took the hope to the tune of 7-1, but never you mind folks we can't win all of 'em.

We were pleased to see such a large, enthusiastic crowd in attendance at the park, and we hope to show you a better ball game next time.

Eight Teams Study Insects In North

Edmonton—Bryan Hocking, assistant professor of entomology at the University of Alberta, will lead one of eight field teams studying insects in Canada's northland this summer.

The project, announced by the federal research board and backed by the defense department, will be based at Churchill, Man., Laboratories there will examine reports from the teams, which will range from the Alaska Highway to Labrador.

A graduate of the University of London, Prof. Hocking during the Second World War did entomological research for the Indian and Southeast Asia Allied Commands.

He spent last summer at Churchill on a similar project when a dozen types of biting mosquitoes, 12 species of black flies and nine or 10 kinds of deer flies were identified.

Meanwhile, the province's fellow entomologists are plagued with one of their worst attacks of mosquitoes. But J. H. Brown, provincial entomologist, says that a planned program could reduce the nuisance.

"There should be no difficulty in establishing mosquito control in Edmonton, it has been done elsewhere in cities of the continent."

Permanent control measures involve eradication of breeding spots in the fall of the year.

Mosquito life survives the cold northern winter in any of three forms—egg, larva, or pupa. When breeding spots are eradicated in the fall few mosquitoes survive. Those that appear the following spring have few places in which to lay eggs.

Wandering Youths Face Tragic Life In Occupied Zone

Berlin—More than 30,000 children are "on the run" in Western Germany, headed for a life of vagrancy and gangsterism unless they are rescued, says a German official.

Most of these wandering juveniles, designated officially as "homeless youth," are subsisting on prostitution and the black market. Hundreds of them sleep in the big city railroad stations and old air raid shelters.

Some of them are fleeing from post-war frustration and fear. Others have had a taste of an easy footloose life and found it good. Still others, some under six years of age, are tramping in search of a lost father or mother—or just following an older boy or girl who thinks he or she knows the road to greener pastures.

Germany's homeless youth represents one of the greatest public welfare problems of the post-war world. Unless it is energetically attacked and solved soon, German sociologists and military government officials believe it will develop into an even more dangerous problem in the future—one of a truly "lost generation."

H. R. Kleinke, United States military government public welfare official, says the problem is most serious in the American occupation zone. The American zone alone, he says, has "by very conservative estimate" 25,000 to 30,000 homeless youth.

The chief reason for this, Kleinke says, is that the U.S. zone is "invaded" by hordes of youngsters from the Russian zone, many claiming that they are in flight from compulsory labor or the threat of deportation to the Soviet. An official survey made last October reported 80 per cent of the vagrant juveniles in the American zone came from the Russian occupation area.

However, Kleinke said welfare officials suspected that in many instances the wandering juveniles gave reports of kidnapping and forced labor threats "as alibis for wanting to lead an easy and shiftless life in the black market."

The homeless youth problem has been most acute in Frankfurt and Bremen. Overcrowded, Bremen has attempted to force idleness to return to the Russian zone. Sometimes the Russian authorities have refused to take them back. On other occasions the wandering kids showed up back in town even before the return of the convoys which had taken them away.

"Raided clean them out," Kleinke says, "but once we have the kids all corralled, what can we do with them? We are short of both facilities to host them and personnel to handle them."

"When we pick them up in periodic raids we try first to put them in a central building while we trace their parents or guardians. Those who have no families are sent to special centers."

Time Out For Laughs

Some time after the last war, several men in a bar room were discussing one of the battles. A lieutenant, telling his version of it, was interrupted by a former captain, who corrected him on several points. He, in turn, was contradicted by a man who claimed to be a major and told a different story. Presently a fourth man spoke up.

"Gentlemen, I was in that fight. Perhaps I can refresh your memories a little."

And he gave a quiet but precise account of the action.

"What was your rank, sir?" asked the bartender. "I was a private," he replied, preparing to leave. "How much do I owe you for the drinks?"

"Not a thing, sir, not a thing," said the bartender. "You're the very first private I've ever met."

Farmer Billings bought a horse from Trader Tomkins. As soon as Billings got the nag into his stable the animal keeled over and died. When the trader heard of it, he left the country. Returning two years later, he ran into Billings and said, "Billings, I am awfully sorry about selling you that horse and him dying on you as soon as you got him in the stable."

"Don't let that worry you, laughed the victim. 'That horse deal made me five thousand dollars. As soon as I see he was expired, I kept it quiet and started selling raffle tickets on the horse, a dollar a ticket and I got five thousand customers.'

The trader was puzzled. "How about the fellow who won the horse?"

"Oh, him?" chuckled Billings. "Well, he did raise a little fuss about it, so I gave him his dollar back."

GERALD

Mr. J. Henderson and Mrs. Henderson of Edmonton were visitors last week at the home of Mr. Henderson's sister, Mrs. G. Christopherson. They were accompanied by Mr. J. Wilson, and Miss A. Marshall.

Miss Edith Perkins has been visiting at the home of her sisters and brother in this community for the past week.

Mr. W. Pearney motored to Lloydminster to spend the week-end. He was accompanied by E. Campbell, G. Denoncourt and T. Burnett.

Visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. Christopherson this week are Mrs. Christopherson's sisters, Mrs. F. Ball and Mrs. R. Valentine of Edmonton. Mrs. Ball is accompanied by her two children Ronald and Irene. Mrs. Valentine's son Dennis was with her. They will also visit at the home of their brother Mr. P. Henderson in this district, and their sister Mrs. R. Finlay at Falgout.

Mr. L. Myggland, D.D.G.M., attended the meetings of the Masonic order that were held in Edmonton last week.

About 6 families were represented at the gathering at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. Deyell where a demonstration of aluminum kitchen ware was held. Fourteen people enjoyed the meal that was cooked and a few made purchases.

Cow Adopts Moose
Cat Cares For Rat

Unusual adoptions—among the animal class—are the rage in western Nova Scotia these days.

At Dalhousie Bluff an old family cow has adopted a calf moose. The moose was found wandering—hungry and weakly-legged—near the town by some children. They led it home where the hospitable family cow took over the job of caring for it.

Meanwhile, at Yarmouth a cat, deprived of her kittens, has adopted a rat which it treats with every show of affection.

Bald farmer George Goulden: "They are deeply attached to each other, and play together in the barn."

Here are some of its many uses:

crashing down and tear away more things. It is a vicious circle.

Now I've stopped my literary meanderings to have numerous cups of coffee and a ten o'clock dinner in the form of a hot beef sandwich. Polly made dinner this afternoon before young Roy went on the dyke, but it was too hot to eat anything then, and so we waited until old Roy was ready to take over. He's dead beat, and the best is infinite, offering no chance of rest at all during the day, and the night is just a nightmare. I'll be glad when all of this is over and people settle down to normal again, or as normal as they can be after such a catastrophe. The fruit and vegetable festivals that are such an event in the area will be a macabre farce this year if they try to hold them at all. The brightest of some of these folk who live here wired their woodpiles and sheds with chicken wire and then secured this to tall and strong looking trees, and staked their barns and houses down. Some even cemented their windows and put their furniture on blocks and then on floating barges with identification tags. Cows and pigs were tagged and a price offered for the feeding and returning of same when the waters receded. But none of it seemed to work out as well as hoped.

The Red Cross is right there of course. It goes past a million times a day, with food and clothing. I had some things I was going to send Og but I see they're needed worse here. Last Saturday Mr. and Mrs. went to Chilliwack to extricate some relatives, and they had to put a canvas partition under the car. When they got in the vicinity of the place, they got a raft and went after them. That night we all went down and let me tell you filling and carrying fifty pound sandbags is no easy job. The petroleums says where there is a hole, and the next person in line with a bag ready marches down and slaps it over the hole. All of which is futile. If you can't work to keep up to the men, you're a pansy. I'm a pansy even if I used to be able to lug hundred weights of flour in the store. Good Gosh! My back hurt! And I notice I've been carefully avoiding the dykes since. Monday night we took a boiler full of coffee down and I think we were the most popular people in the country. They drank it down and asked for more.

HELEN.

Fertilizer Shipped In Volume
To Many Countries
From Canada

Fertilizer shipments last year were valued at $34,586,000, placing exports in the list of leading Canadian exports, and comparing with a total of $32,106,000 in the previous year, and with $7,046,000 in 1933. The United States was the principal purchaser, exports consisting of manufactured fertilizers, $11,955,000; phosphate, $4,570,000; and ammonium sulphate, $1,915,000. Thirty-four other countries imported manufactured fertilizers from Canada, shipments valued at $2,975,000 having gone to China, $1,925,000 to the Netherlands, and $1,310,000 to France.

Production of fertilizers in Canada during the past year increased 28.3 per cent over that for the previous year, and sales in this country achieved a new record of 650,605 tons in the twelve months ending June 30, 1947. Consumption in Ontario was higher by fourteen per cent, and there were increases in the Prairie Provinces, particularly of ammonium phosphate, Nova Scotia used more fertilizer during the same period, but Island and British Columbia.

UNDERSTANDING =
MODERATION

Understanding comes to us when we see things through the other fellow's eyes . . .

when we listen through the other fellow's ears . . .

when we consider the other fellow's point of view at all times.

It's the key to happy living together. For it leads us to weigh our words and shape our actions for the common good.

Happily a Canadian characteristic, it's this understanding which leads us to choose the path of moderation in all things . . .

moderation in our thinking, moderation in our spending . . .

moderation in our pleasure. For understanding makes us realize, that moderation benefits not only our own selves, but our families, our communities and all of Canada.

Personal
Purchases
in the U.S.

• If you are contemplating a trip to the United States, here are two important facts to remember

• You may not bring back with you any merchandise which is prohibited under the Emergency Exchange Conservation Act. Find out in advance from Canadian Customs officials whether you may bring in any contemplated purchase.

• To conserve all available U.S. dollars for essential purchases, a travel ration of $150 U.S. per person for the 12 months between Nov. 15, 1947 and Nov. 15, 1948 has been established. Be sure to get the necessary forms and details at your bank, well in advance of your trip.
